ABOUT THE FILM

Feature film White Coffin, a crossover of action, horror and road movie directed by Daniel De la Vega (Necrophobia) and written by García Bogliano brothers (Cold sweat, Penumbra, Scherzo Diabólico), gets ready for a first presentation to the expectant audience.

Nine years ago started this project by these three masters of Latin-American horror genre cinema. De la Vega was in, from the very first moment, to direct the script by García Bogliano brothers, and after all these years of comes and goes, he teams again with producer Néstor Sánchez Sotelo from Del Toro Films (after working together in Necrophobia). As a producer, Sánchez Sotelo found in White Coffin an excellent script to bring to life, solid and strong, so, what could be better than let the audience avid for extreme emotions to enjoy it?; besides, he sees White Coffin as a potential letter of presentation to international market, an Argentinian genre film of high production standards, made with the best resources possible and a great team behind and in front of the camera. With a large plan to visit international film festivals, they hope it gets to a huge audience and its release in Argentinian theaters will be by the end of 2016.

White Coffin, is the fifth feature film of the veteran Argentinian filmmaker De la Vega, and this new delivery marks a different path for him, after his claustrophobic efforts such as Necrophobia and Chronicle of the raven. This time, larger production efforts were needed to tell this story, including several locations such as, dusty roads, a lonely village, a gas station, a carpentry, a church, a cemetery, woods, and beyond the sceneries, the creation of car chasing scenes with high action content, all that summing to the photography and music, put on the screen an exciting script full of hunting horror. White Coffin's atmosphere, created with such a production, goes further than other Argentinian genre feature films in terms of extreme emotions trigger.

The core story is based on Virginia, a desperate mother who tries to rescue her daughter, while fighting against supernatural forces. The little Rebeca is in hands of an obscure sect in a lonely village, which seems to be in the middle of nowhere. On her path, she will meet Angela and Patricia, who are in the same quest, and everything becomes insane on a chase to rescue their children. What should she do in her pursuit? That is something beyond words. Under extreme situations she must take decisions which will show how strong her soul is, but... she will find out, in the hardest way, that there are worst things than death.

OFFICIAL SELECTION

FANTASIA FEST - MONTREAL 2016

"A SPECTRAL WHITE COFFIN FROM ARGENTINA

Argentinean horror steps into a bold, new dimension in Daniel de la Vega's grisly supernatural shocker WHITE COFFIN (World Premiere), scripted by brilliant filmmaking siblings Adrian and Ramiro Garcia Bogliano. Fantasia is thrilled to be opening WHITE COFFIN's diabolical lid for the world to discover its horrific secrets, where child kidnapping, afterdeath resurrection and occult ritualism are intertwined for an unspeakable purpose." By TwitchFilm

"This compelling Argentinian action-horror-road movie crossover is helmed by veteran director Daniel De la Vega (NECROPHOBIA) and masterfully written by the legendary García Bogliano brothers (COLD SWEAT, PENUMBRA, SCHERZO DIABOLICO). The film brilliantly offers a unique experience that is both novel and reminiscent of the golden age of action horror movies of the 1980s. The horrors that transpire are claustrophobic, gruesome, and strangely supernatural. WHITE COFFIN champions the action-horror ethos of films such as PHANTASM and delivers shocks that are visceral and unsettling in their brutality. This film delivers some serious punches, digging deep and climatically revealing the mystery of the white coffin.” By Justin Langlois
